Materials & Supplies

- Computer to research trivia questions
- Pen or Pencil to Write down trivia questions in the style of Jeopardy
- Paper- once again for writing down the questions developed
- Dry Erase Board- Visual Jeopardy board so the kids know how many points they have, which questions are left and which categories they are
- Dry erase marker- to write on dry erase board
- Candy or chips- prize for the winning team or person (given at the end of class each day)

Pro Tips by Joshua Meyers

- Show video clips at the beginning of each class period
- Take video and photos of the kiddos throughout the class and add it to the presentation.
- Come up with a list of hints as well just incase the kids get caught up on a few questions. You want them to at least be able to give you an educated guess on each question
- Depending how large your class is, it may be advantageous to break them up into small
- Give every team a chance to answer each and every question. A good way to do this is have the players/teams write their answers on a piece of paper and have them hand it to you. That way everyone can get points and the older kids don't necessarily dominate.

Resources:

The most important resource is going to be to find websites that provide witty yet appropriate trivia for the kids. Here are some of the ones that I came across-

- General Knowledge, Science and Animal Trivia- <http://www.sciencekids.co.nz/quizzes.html>
- Disney Trivia- <http://the-quiz.com/questions-with-answers-disney-quiz.htm>, <https://nobullying.com/disney-trivia/>, http://www.fromscreentotheme.com/Archived_animated_films_trivia.aspx
- Animal Trivia- <http://www.corsinet.com/trivia/a-triv.html>, <http://animals.nationalgeographic.com/animals/quiz/>
- More Science Trivia- <http://www.sciencefun.org/kidszone/trivia/>,
- General Knowledge Trivia- http://www.triviaplaying.com/18_science_Q.htm, http://www.triviacountry.com/16_Science_Trivia.htm

There are tons of trivia websites! These are some, but if you need more, there is no shortage of questions!
